Why UE?

Shortage of skilled workers, digitalisation and the increasing demand for sustainability pose challenges for companies. This makes it all the more important to find highly-qualified experts who can tackle these issues in an innovative and future-oriented way. With the MBA programme at UE, you will be prepared for this role through practice-oriented and interdisciplinary teaching. The many years of experience of our professors will strengthen your professional profile and sustainably promote your competence development. The diverse specialisation options within the MBA programme at UE give you the opportunity to align the basic knowledge you have acquired with your professional interests and career goals. Whether you would like to become a project manager, CFO or sales director - choose from two of a total of eight specialisations and gain the skills and confidence that will make you an expert in your field.
